REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS,

For the Year ending March 1, 1910.

The following report of the public schools is herewith presented:

The enrollment for this year, by grades, is as follows:

| | | | | | | | | | | | |
|---------------------|----|----|-----|----|----|----|-----|------|----|---|-------|
| GRADE | I | II | III | IV | V | VI | VII | VIII | IX | X | TOTAL |
| NO. OF PUPILS | 37 | 36 | 31 | 28 | 17 | 19 | 33 | 26 | 7 | 4 | 238 |

With 71 pupils enrolled in the primary school it has been necessary to have the first two grades come for one session each. The work laid out for these grades will be accomplished and no interference with their progress will result from this arrangement.

If the number of pupils in the third and fourth grades continue to increase, something will have to be done to relieve the overcrowded condition of this room.

Only a very few of our pupils leave school before they enter the grammar room and a large majority of them complete the eight years' work. In view of the fact that the eighth grade marks the end of the elementary school education and that our high school course is only a partial one, covering two years, graduating exercises of the grammar school will be held this year and diplomas granted to all who have satisfactorily completed the work of the eighth grade. Diplomas will be awarded to the high school graduates at the same time.

It was thought best to dispense with the services of the supervisor of music and drawing for the winter term, and also to close the schools one week earlier than usual. The spring term will open March 14 and close June 17, thus making out our school year of thirty-six weeks.

It has been decided to make the school year thirty-six weeks for all grades. This is particularly desirable in view of the half time arrangement for the primary school. The afternoon session of the primary school ought also to be lengthened so that the first and second grades may have practically the same length of session.

The state law of 1909 provides that each district, entitled to receive state aid shall receive $2 per week for each qualified teacher in its employ. Qualified teachers are those who have diplomas from approved normal schools, or hold state certificates. We have three such teachers to whom higher salaries are paid in view of repayment by the state, but, although the increase in salary dates from September, the repayment from the state will not be until December next.

A second year course has been adopted for the high school and diplomas will be awarded at its completion. The number of pupils in the high school this year is small, but nineteen of the present eighth grade have indicated their intention of continuing their studies. This will make as large an entering class as we can well accommodate. A reference library for history must be purchased if we are to receive the approval of the state superintendent of public instruction for our high school. Without this approval we should not have tuition scholars from other towns and the cost of this library is but a part of what we receive in tuitions for a single year.

Better means of window ventilation ought to be provided and clocks placed in each room for the convenience of both teachers and pupils.

We regret that serious illness compelled Mr. Silcox to give up the care of the school building at the end of the fall term. His faithful and efficient service and pleasant manner had won for him the respect and good will of all those with whom he came in contact.

The reports of the supervisors of music and drawing are presented with this report.

The school board recommends that the following amounts be assessed:

|------------------------------|----------|
| For text books and supplies, | $350 00 |
| For flags, etc., | 00 |
| For high school tuition, | 00 |

and that the school district raise $1600.00 in addition to the amount required by law.

In closing, I wish to express my appreciation of the excellent condition in which I found the Troy schools.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES N. PRINGLE,
Superintendent of Schools.

East Jaffrey, N. H., Feb. 23, 1910.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC.

To Superintendent James N. Pringle:

Music has two departments, science and art. Science has to do with the laws of construction, and the general theoretical side, and art can only be recognized after this is attained. The tone and rhythm must be mechanically correct before any liberties are taken, or originality of interpretation introduced by the performer. In singing the expression is mostly governed by the words. In giving a song to a child, it is always best to explain what he is singing about, as in a poem children so often get the wrong idea, unless some explanation is given by the teacher; a little discussion, if encouraged among the pupils, heightens the interest and increases the enjoyment, for one of the main objects of music in the public schools is to teach a child, in such a way that he will learn to love it. If he loves it, he will seek for it, and it will have a good influence over him and help to cultivate in him the higher instincts. This is the only uplift some children have, and if not taught them at school they might never get any and that much would be taken out of a child's life.

In watching the musical development of children it is quite surprising to find them so interested in exercises or songs without words. As soon as they get so that they can read music a little they seem anxious to see how the next exercise is going to sound.

In studying different text books we find the devices and methods used are many, but all point in the same direction, viz: how to get the best results in the shortest possible time, for the period allowed for music per week is limited. It is much better to divide the time, giving a little each day, than much at one lesson and none the following day.

We find, in looking over the work in the larger towns, that much stress is laid upon the value of individual singing and, with that in view, we tried last year to find out just how accurate each child was, by encouraging every child in the second, third and fourth grades to sing a little song alone. In the third and fourth grades we allow each one to select his own song. These are assigned by number and when a child's number is called, he rises and sings his song. This is only one little device to encourage independence and confidence. Occasionally, once or twice a term, we have allowed classes to visit other classes and render selections back and forth, and have found benefit from it in several ways, one of which is the incentive it gives classes in preparation.

At a lesson given at the beginning of the winter term we planned two months work, giving instruction to the regular teacher to check off a number when given, excepting in the matter of the fundamental drill, where a cross is made each time a subject is covered. This latter consists of scale work, interval practice, dictation, time exercises, at the board, sight singing, original chords and individual singing.

A record is always kept of each child's work, and the average is given as in the other lessons. It is our object to take up the subject of music and carry it forward in the same general way as instruction in the other branches are conducted, and the work is carefully planned for every class by the supervisor and a duplicate copy given each teacher, so that a record is kept of all lessons given.

The children are trained to take an erect and natural position, with feet squarely on the floor, while singing, and the teachers strive to secure distinct articulation and purity and vitality of tone.

The voices are examined and classified as soon as the two and three-part work begins, and the pupils seem to appreciate and enjoy the study of harmony.

From the fourth grade upwards chromatics are constantly used in the dictation and minors are started from the seventh grade.

We have tried to arrange the course so that the steps from one class to another are distinctive, and not crowd every kind of work down in the lower grades. We leave some new subject to be studied as a child advances into another class, but although distinctive, they are blended and connected, and review work is always carried forward.

The high school has done considerable written work, and extra time has been devoted to the study of the F clef. We have a better defined corps of bass singers than ever before. Each lesson starts with some kind of exercises for the cultivation of the voice or training the ear, after which the "Educational Fifth Reader," "Songs of the Nation," and Sheet Music are used.

Our aim is to give the children a good musical education of practical value and refining nature, which will not only be a pleasure to them, but will have a good influence over them, and enrich their lives in the years to come.

Respectfully submitted,

LIZZIE M. MAYNARD.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF DRAWING.

Superintendent Jas. N. Pringle:

Dear Sir:—With pleasure I submit the following report of the condition of drawing in the schools of Troy.

During the months of February, March and April pictorial drawing was taken up in all grades. May, June, September and October were given to nature drawing, color and design. November, December and January to constructive design, objects for Thanksgiving and Christmas, and pictorial drawing.

While the work in drawing is decidedly better this year than last, the small amount of time given to the subject, and the lack of material, make the progress slow and results discouraging; but while we have the interest of the child, the work cannot help but improve.

There are three principles laid down by Froebel in regard to kindergarten work which apply equally to all school work, and with particular force to the subject of drawing. The first of these is the principle of self activity. Any work in drawing that does not involve the pleasurable exercise of the creative powers of the child is necessarily poor and unproductive work. In the second place is the great principle of continuity, that is, that a subject which commences at the beginning of school life shall be conducted day after day, week after week, and year after year, until that subject yields to the child that power, that exercise, and that discipline which the subject is calculated to yield.

Then there is the great principle of connectedness, or correlation of studies, the illustration and re-enforcement of one study by others, and unless this principle of connectedness can be applied to drawing, drawing as a subject, has no place in the public school.

Interest, continuity, connectedness, can come only through a thoughtful study of local conditions by the individual teacher.

Any outline given by superintendent or supervisor can at best be only a suggestion.

I will take this opportunity of thanking the school board, teachers, parents and pupils for the help which they have given me during the year, for without the help of every one my efforts could not but be a failure.

Respectfully submitted,

MARION L. CALLUM,

Supervisor of Drawing.

Lunenburg, Mass., Feb. 16, 1910.

REPORT OF
TRUSTEES OF PUBLIC LIBRARY,
For the Year ending February 15, 1910.

The trustees of the public library submit the following report:

|---|---------|
| Amount on hand, February 15, 1909, | $15 99 |
| Received appropriation for 1909, | 63 90 |
| Received for fines, catalogues and cards, | 17 66 |
| | <hr/> |
| | $97 55 |
| Paid postage, | $0 08 |
| Express, supplies, etc., | 1 15 |
| DeWolfe & Fiske Co., books, | 77 37 |
| | <hr/> |
| | $78 60 |
| Balance on hand, February 15, 1910, | $18 95 |

The library received several donations during the year. Dr. Emmet Densmore, of New York, gave two books; Arcana of Nature, and Sex Equality. The daughters of the late Ex. Gov. Charles H. Bell gave two books; The History of Exeter and Bench and Bar of New Hampshire, and Mr. Albert Crane, of Stamford, Conn., presented forty volumes of standard works and a set of Appleton's American Encyclopedia, sixteen volumes, in memory of his mother, Clarissa Lawrence Starkey, who was a native of the town.

Including the donations about one hundred and seventy-five books have been added during the year. With the constantly increase in numbers it will soon become a question of providing shelf room. We would ask that the patrons of the library exercise more care in the use of books, as much damage can be done by the way in which they are opened and handled.

The whole number of books in circulation was six thousand six hundred and eighty-four, averaging one hundred and thirty-three per week. The largest number, one hundred and seventy-nine; the smallest number, sixty-three.
